AMOK IN SULU.

AMERICAN SOLDIER KILLED AND ANOTHER WOUNDED.

[Special Correspondence.]

Jolo, Sulu, P. I., 14th Nov. Another "juramentado" affair here last nigh resulted in the death of a private belonging the 20th Infantry and the wounding of another The two soldiers were sitting in front of native house in the suburban village of Tultitalking with a Eurasian interpreter employed in the office of the Governor, when a Moto stepped up in front of them. The interpreter instantly exclaimed, "Juramentado," the dreided word which here keeps both Americans and Filipinos in a constant state of fear.

As soon as the word was spoken, one of he soldiers drew his revolver, but, unfortunately, it was not loaded. He was immediately it down by the "barong" (broad-bladed parage) of the ferocious Sulu, and died soon afor. The second man then seized the blade aid, after receiving some savage cuts, succeeded in wrenching it away from the sayage, who tien took to flight and has not yet been captued. This was a decidedly unusual ending of sich an affair, the More usually fighting as long is life lasts, very rarely indeed taking to flight

There is a standing order here that soldiers shall go armed when outside the falled city, but it has not been as rigidly enfeced lately as heretofore. Had these two mentomplied with the order, the affair would have had a very different ending, but one of them was entirely unarmed while the cartridges arried by the other were in his belt instead of n his revolver. Yet it was only a few week ago when there was a similar case of "juramentado" a mounted sentry of the 14th Cavity being attacked by a Sulu armed with a sper. The horse received a savage cut in the hipand the sentry jumped down and shot the Mos dead escaping entirely uninjured. As the tland is now supposed to be at peace, this we considered an exceptional instance and n special precautions were taken on account oft."

WHAT JURAMENTADO MEAN The "juramentado" is somewhatdifferent from the amok-runner, in that he cts with premeditation. Through family tribles, as a religious fanatic, as a slave of sole leader or priest, or for any of a hundredand one other reasons, he decides to commit suicide by taking with him into' the next vorld the souls of as many Christian "day" as he can. 'e makes careful preparation for the event. He is anointed and shave the loss of his eyebrows being especially toticeable. He dresses in white, provided the an "scare up" a white suit, which is ot always the case. He-ties up certain of his vrgans i such a way as to produce agonising pairs this probably to keep up his courage. Then he makes for the American settlement ag fights till killed. Owing to the extraording precautions which have been taken, serious injury by one of these menthas but a very rare occurrence, though a corporaliss shot by agitated soldiers about three years go after having slain the "juramentado." . Tre is an abundance of sentries about the seement. All soldiers outside the lines are pposed to be armed with heavy revolveor with rifler, and many of these are suped with dumdum and "doctored", bullets, foho More will fight as long as he can standed does not mind having a few holes in his by. Some of those best acquainted withhe habits of the Moros claim that cases of leaders, and that a case never occurs ur is encouraged by some chief. If that correct view, it is evident that the great th tary expedition which scoured the islandas April and May was not altogether a success

IMPROVEMENTS AT JOLO. enormous sums of money here for improv ments, and it is believed that this place is be made the military headquarters for the Southern Philippines. Fine new barrack have been erected two storeys in height, brick and hard wood with zinc roofs. The contain offices, canteen, reading room et as well as quarters for over three hundre men. New military roads are being cot structed of macadam, both from the walle city to the fort at Asturias, a distance of half mile, and from there on across the island to the capital of the Sultan of Sulu, Maymbun, distance of about fourteen miles farth These expenditures are looked upon as indication of the determination of the V Department to thoroughly pacify the isla 8.45 p.m. and 9 p.m., 9.45 p.m. to 11.15 p.m. and hold it permanently as a military static It is in every respect admirably adapted that purpose, being one of the healthlest all the islands of the Archipsiago and enough from other islands to effectually vent desertions, which are troublesome to authorities elsewhere in the Philippines 5.00 p.m. to 0.00 p.m. ... JAPAN'S FINANCES. From the Japanese papers that have just come to hand it is evident that the Government of that country is on the verge of a financial crisis. The crux of the situation seems to be that a programme of military expansion "there can be only one possible end to the which will involve an expenditure of something like four hundred million yen has it does not say what that end will be it is been adopted, and nobody can tell where made clear that the paper in question rethat money is to come from or how the gards Japan as being on the verge of insolinterest is to be met. There is no doubt | vency. It is a serious question which the that Japan could float new loans if neces. Elder Statesmen, or whoever is responsible sary, and the inherent wealth of the country for the ambitious policy, will have to face. might possibly suffice to tide over any tem- and it will require a very clever Cabinet to porary financial embarrassment, but it is a find the safest solution. Fortunately, Japan questionable policy tokeneet difficulties by is to a certain extent controlled by the incurring new obligations. As a result of Bourse of Paris, and the Stock Exchanges of the war, Japan's credit has risen high in the London and New York, and we can only estimation of Russian and American trust that a mild hint from those quarters financiers, and Japan's ambitions have fol- will have the effect desired by the people of lowed suit. But Japan's revenue has not Japan. kept pace with her new aspirations, and all that the Ministers seem to be doing at present is to juggle with the figures of the revenue. The Japan Herald puts the matter clearly before its readers when it says " Japan's expen. diture has been largely increased by the war while her revenue remains normal." The same newspaper proceeds: "The expenses of the war are already an extra tax laid on the people, from which there is no immediate prospect of release. The only money in this connection Japan has to receive is the cost of the maintenance of the Russian prisoners, and as this is to be calculated on the actual expenses she will not gain by the transaction. For the cost of the war she has to meet an expenditure in the coming fiscal year of eight hundred million yen, and however this is met, whether by domestic loans, increased tariff or continued war taxes, the money comes out of the pockets of the people, either in the form of direct contributions or interest on loans. Moreover, the war has increased Japan's normal burdens. The cost of the troops in Manchuria and Korea ure, as will also the upkeep of Port Arthur." According to the Asahi, the ordinary revenue, including the proceeds of the war taxes, is estimated at 390 million yen. Of that sum 230 millions will be disbursed as ordinary expenditure; 110 millions will go toward treducing the public debts; and the remaining 50 millions will be distributed among the different Departments for the post-bellum enterprises. But 50 millions is far too small an amount for these purposes, especially when the country is saddled with a programme of military expansion which mans to be unnecessary, impolitic at the expensive. Apparently it is the object of the Emperor and his Ministers to bring up the Japanese army to the number and standard adopted by a first-class land power in Europe, but such a policy would appear to the onlooker to be foolish in the extreme. The Japanese army showed its mettle in the recent war when pitted against a valorous foe, and it might have been considered sufficient to keep the army at its present strength, or rather at the strength which existed before the war. The Asahi waxes very bitter over the military expansion idea, and asks, "Where is the Mikado to find work for the hundreds of thousands who have existed for nearly two years merely on pretty promises of a profitable end to a glorious war?" Undoubtedly it would have seemed best to provide occupation for the thousands who were taken from the factories and fields to maintain the honour of the country, and who performed a task which might well have daunted European troops, accustomed to continual fighting. Japan could well afford to rest on her laurels for a time until at least most of the burden of war debts had been a great work to perform in Manchuria.

Corea is by no means settled; and there is a great starving population in Japan itself, who cannot be expected to acquiesce quietly in the military schemes of the Ministers. It was only the other day that the foreign re-

Yet the Japan ese Government selects this as the appropriate moment to launch a military expansion programme which alone will exceed a year's revenue of the country, even taking the war taxes into consideration. The vernacular and foreign press of Japan are practically unanimous in condemning the suggestion, the former being particularly veno. | Sngapore Batt., Royal Garrison Attillery, mous against the idea. THE PORT AND CITY OF SHANGHAL

As at present constituted, Shanghail consists of a native city with a population of perhaps 700,000, according to latest opinions, and international settlements which contain fully 200,000 people, of whom approximately 15,000 are foreigners of all nationalities. This population is constantly increasing, owing to the advantages offered as a place of residence, and it is certainly safe to say that in ten years the city as a whole will contain at least , 1,500,000 people, the ratio of increase of the foreigners being about the same as that of the Chinese, Consul-General l'odgers writes that it is easy to understand why Shanghai is developing into a great city. Round about it are the great Chinese centres of Soochow, Hangchow Ningpo, Fuchau, Wuhu, Chinkinng and Nanking, with their fertile tributary areas and their industries of various kinds. The great Yangize delta country, productive to a high degree, is backed by the Yangtse Valley stretching to a thousand miles inland, having populous and rich cities lying in a country of undeveloped richness, according to modern ideas.

The trade and commerce of this great region, with a population estimated from 125,000,000, to 175,000,000, must filter through Shanghai, leaving its effect in ever-increasing volume. With such resources at home there could not fail to be results, but in addition Shanghai has the advantage of being the natural port for middle China. Here, in the track of the ocean traffic, call the ships from Japan and from the Occident. Here the cargo from the north trans-shipped, and from here it goes to the coast cities, to Manchurian ports and to Corea, "Up the Yangize is sent the world's product, and each year the consumption grows greater. With the improvement of the Whangpoo river and the Yangtse bar will ensue a rush of commerce here which will make present-day affairs small. The dredging operations to provide this improvement will begin soon, and then Shanghal as a deep-water port will soon be an

THE TRAUE OF KOBE.

Each month the Kobe Customs authorities issue a return of the trade of Kobe with Asiatic countries and the United States, and a return of the trade of the port every ten days, or "decade" as it is styled. The monthly return is a tremendous compilation of figures extending over six very large pages, and in such detail that a large proportion of the statistics are of very little interest, we should think, excepting to those merchants they directly concern, but could be made valuable f condensed, rearranged, and published, say quarterly, when the authorities would have some figures to deal with. As it is there are such items as the month's export trade with Soochow, Y59, and with Chingwantao, Yo. Turning to the returns for the eleven months ending November, the total of exports to and impe s. from China amounted to. Y52,456,526 against Y58,242,469 in 1904 Korea, Y2,172,295 against Y1,775,581; Hongkong Y8,802,998 against Y14,046,668; Philippines, Y866,898 against Y988,649; Netherlands India, Yi,454,723 against Y2,761,985; Straits Settlements, Y3,672,922 against Y3,408-828; British India, Y58, 166,611, against Y41,-412,147; French India Y4,928,251 against Y9,741,485; and Siam, Y3,459,664 against Y4,346,750. It should be borne in mind of course that these figures represent the trade of Kobe and not of Japan, for in looking through such mass of figures as this return presents it is quite possible to forget the fact. The table is not free from errors, as 'we notice that the eleven months' exports to the United States stand at 714 millions odd. This little error is contradicted below, where it is stated that the eleven months' trade with the United States this year was valued at Yos,894,743 and for inst year Y36,964,208.

SANITARY BOARD.

RESIGNATION OF TWO MEMBERS.

A meeting of the Sanitary. Board was held this afternoon in the Board room. The Hon, Dr. F. Clark presided and the members present were Dr. W. W. Pearse, M.O.H. the Hon. W. Chatham, Messrs. H. E. Pollock K.C. F. J. Badeley, the Hon. Mr. A. W. Browin. Fung Wa Chun, Lau Chu Pak, A. Rumjahn, and Dr. Macfaelang.

The minutes, were confirmed.

Mr. Pollock said 1 have an announcement to make, and I make it with some regret; namely, that this will be the last meeting at which I shall have the pleasure of sitting at, this board. My experience during the past nearly three years upon this board has been a very pleasant one indeed, and I have learned a great many matters which are very useful to me, and which I think will be of profit to me in the Council at which I am shortly to take my place. I will only say, in conclusion, that I desire to express my sense of the very great courtesy which I have at times received from the members of this board

Mr. Rumjahn said-I have also an ar nouncement to make. I think this is th last meeting I attend to-day. Following the resignation of Mr. Pollock, I determined to send in my resignation. I have very great, regret in doing so. It has always been a pleasant duty to me to give my time. the use of the public, and I thank all the members of the board for their courtesy which | claimed to have sold Leung Wai Ting a box they have always given to me. signations, said-! am sure I express your approval, as well as my own, when I say that we are all very sorry to lose Mr. Pollock and Mr. Fumiahn from this board. They have both been towers of strength to us in many cases of difficulty, and we can hardly hope that the new men will take their place when they retire. In the case of Mr. Pollock we know that it is promotion that has led to his retirement, and that we certainly do not grudge him. We know that a busy professional man cannot possibly spare time to attend many of these meetings, and although our work may not perhaps bulk very largely in the public eye, because we only meet in public once a fortnight, yet the bulk of the work is done behind screens, so to speak, that is to say, in Committee and by circulating papers. There is no question that to do the thing in it. His Lordship was against the pill work of the members of the board must involve very much more time than can be spared by busy professional men (hear, hear).

SCARCITY OF LYMPH AND THE WATER Mr. Fung Wa Chun asked the following

(1) What is the reason for the present scarcity of lymph in the Colony, and when will there be a sufficient supply? (2) Why, since the introduction of the Rider-main system, the occupants of upper floors have not been getting sufficient water for potable purposes? ... The Chairman, in reply to the first question, said: I will say that the reason for the present temporary scarcity of lymph in the Colony is that a sufficient number of buffalo calves cannot be obtained. The butchers state that they are not allowed at present to export buffalo calves from China. Every effort will be made to obtain a sufficient supply of calves from the New Territory, and if these efforts fail a supply of lymph to meet all demands will be purchased from Baigon or Shanghai,

In reply to the second question the Chairman said-The rider-main system is under the control of the Director of Public Works and I am unable, therefore, to answer this question; but if you will furnish him with specific instances of a deficiency of water to upper floors due to this system every effort will, I am sure, be made to remedy the defect, SMUGGLING OF 'DAINTY MEATS.' The proprietor of No. 1 Queen's Road West applied for permission to sell meat other than that sold at a public market.

Mr. Rumjahn minuted -I think a licence for selling venison only should be granted.

Mr. H. E. Pollock minuted,-I have never seen dog and cat meat sold publicly here yet. It is not common food among the Chinese. the veterinary surgeon does not recommend the issuing of a licence to sell venison the applicant should be so informed. But I see no objection, as I understand no venison is sold in the Western, or Saiyingpun, market.

The Veterinary Surgeon minuted :- I think venison is an article of food usually sold in a public market. During the winter season deer are regularly sold in the Central market. With regard to the sale of dog and cat meat and badger, etc., I would suggest that a licence be issued, for meat "other than that sold in the public markets." There is a demand for these dainties which are not in themselves unwholesome, and it would be better that the sale of them be conducted in an open and aboveboard manner. At the present time they are in summary jurisdiction this morning, before Mr. Justice A. G. Wise the case came on in which Leung Wai Ting, alias Leung Chan Chan Tong, sued Ching Kwai Wan for recovery of $50 due on an acknowledgment of debt.

MEDICINE PILL CASE.

THE JUDGMENT.

Mr. R. A. Harding appeared for plaintiff an Mr. F. X, d'Almada e Castro for defendant,

There was also a cross-action in which Soo was claimed as the balance of the price of quantity of " medicine pills " sold and delivered During the hearing Mr. d'Almada asked for further adjournment so as to enable him to obtain a translation of one of the documents. The application was refused, and

Mr. Harding, addressing the Court, submitted that the evidence was "overwhelming as regarded the transaction in rifles. The other side denied everything with reference to them, but there was the evidence of his client and of the men who came down from China to get the rifles. There could be no question that there was such a transaction with regard to rifles as shown by the evidence of three witnesses against Ching shown by the documents produced.

His Lordship remarked that the two stories were absolutely irreconcilable and there was a very pleasant time together, and I resign my account and that he now sued for $90. - Leung Wai Ting's story was that he and somebody The Chairman, in acknowledging the 're- else brought down $200 for the purchase of arms, to be taken into the interior of China to be used, his Lordship presumed gainst the authorities. He said that, after a time, the transaction fell through and he came to reclaim his $200, and he was then told that $100 had been paid back and afterwards another $50, which left $50 due and for that $50 he gave the Exhibit on which he was suing. This Exhibit was used by both parties for different purposes. Of the two stories one must be a pure fabrication and his Lordship's trouble was to say which was which. Both, as they stood, were equally possible, but were there any outside circumstances to make the leaning one way or the other. He did not believe these witnesses would come down and talk about the rifles unless there was somestory. If a receipt was given for pills, it would have said something about them. The receipt was for money, and that was in favour of the rifle story. Then there was the Fook Shing chop for collecting money and that also was in favour of the rifle story. Therefore, his Lordship was of opinion that there must be judgment for Leung Wai Ting without costs,

THE BIG DRYDOCK "DEWEY

TO BE TOWED TO MANILA THROUGH THE SUEZ CANAL.

The Navy Department has decided to use the supply ship Glacier and the colliers Brutus and Casar to tow the big drydock Dewey, recently completed by the Maryland Steel Company at Sparrow's Point to Manile, and has ordered from the American Ship Windlass Company, Providence, R. I., three No. 5 Shaw & Spiegle towing machines, the same make that was used in the trans-Oceanic towing feats of the Standard Oil Company lately, and which | proved so eminently successful.

There are now about 150 of these machines n use, and there has never been a case where one has failed to do its duty, and they are the only machines that have ever been thoroughly tested in ocean towing. The action of this machine in avoiding heavy strains on the hawser is simply perfect. distinctive feature is that by means its driving and cushioning steam cylinders there is provided an elastic steam cushion and an automatic relief to the hawser, without which the hawser would be continually straining and frequently breaking. In fact, it is the only known method of towing by which to prevent heavy strains on the hawser. It was expected that the Dewey would get under way about December 1, and that it would take about five months for it to reach its destination in the Philippines. 'The route will probably be by way of the Sucz Canal, a distance of 10,500

There is no question of the wisdom of the Navy Department in deciding on this method of transporting the Dewey, and it is evidence that it realizes fully the importance of throwing every safeguard around the moving of this gigantic structure on its long voyage, and thus insuring it against going adrift from the vessel towing it in case of storm or heavy, seas liable to be encountered on the ocean. That it has chosen the best appliance made for the purpose will be conceded by all who have seen the Shaw & Spiegle machine in action and know what it is capable of doing:

This method of towing is now employed by shipping all over the world, and the American Ship Windlass Company, the builders of the Shaw & Spiegle machines, have hundreds of The next morning the Tanjong Pagar Dock is cat meat, but he had not seen badger, letters testifying to its reliability and perfect service. - Marine Jaurnal.

further preface is required :--Mr. Chalfman, Gentlemen:-

I have considered very carefully the memorandum issued to members by the Committee of this Chamber, but it appears to me that some of the views expressed therein are, in general principles at least, open to question.

But before touching on these, I should like to remark that the efforts of the Committee to justify their attitude towards the present Bill, appear somewhat strained. They state that Proposed from time to time during the past ten years, cold water has been per-Kwai Wan alone, and that money was paid as sistently thrown upon it by successive Committees of the Chamber." And yet they admit that in 1893 "The Chamber passed a resolution in favour of registration by a majority not much doubt that both stories were made at a general meeting of 11 to 8," while in 1904, up with the greatest care. Ching Kwai Wan | "The Committee (the Committee themselves time, Gentlemen) by a majority of one considered registration desirable."

From this it would almost appear that the cold water was after all not so bitterly cold.

Rather would it appear that the European mercantile community, as represented by the Chamber, has taken a consistent and more or less favourable interest in registration many years past, and that an unusually longsuffering Government has patiently borne with extraordinary contradictions and vacillations of opinion, and is still bent on putting on local trade on a sounder footing, and thereby attracting fresh capital to the Colony.

The memorandum states that "The Committee of course recognise that each successive Official Assignce has urged some such measure to secure the more efficient working of the Bankrupicy Ordinance. They observe, however, from the annual reports of the department, that other measures are also proposed for the same end, such as the stamping of books; and if the argument is to hold that the Official Assignee's recommendations in one instance are to be followed, it is difficult to escape the conclusion that they should also be adopted'in others." But, surely, apart from any other fallacy in this argument, if the Government pass over the minor recommendations of the Official Assignee, and deal only with question on which they find the Official Assignee and a large proportion of the European mercantile community to be at one-it surely. indicates that, with an open mind, the Government is endeavouring, not to pamper the Offi cial Assignce, but to confer a benefit on the mercaptile community at large.

UNSOUND TRADE. But, even if it be allowed that all the arguments brought forward by the Committee their memorandum be sound arguments, is not the case that they point without exception to thenecessity of the Bill in its present form being modified and amended, and not to the advisability of all legislation in the matter being summarily condemned?

It appears to be contended that the Bill will restret trade. On general principles it would appeir impossible that sound legislation could restrict good trade. There are no doubt, however, certain clauses in the Bill as it now is which might have the effect of restricting good trade but as I presume that none of us desire the lill in exactly its present form; this does not efect the question.

A arge proportion of the trade we do here is surely not sound trade even though, having got accustomed to local methods, we continue to handle it, and often to strive after it as though it were the most desirable business possible But to give credit blindly, as in many instance we have to do, with little knowledge of our obtors other than the facts that, for some reson, others give them credit also, and that the usually meet their engagements, is suffly of sound trade, Yet no firm I imagine, confiden of its own integrity, and stability, would ofect to its general constitution being known thugh it might, probably would, object to the deals of that constitution being made public poperty. And tough, as I have said, we have grown accustoled to accepting and even seeking unsound ade, and though any departure from our usu methods might cause us temporary loss-sti if such departure tended towards a get eralimprovement in the quality of our trade, -inded in fact to put us more on a level with sole other Eastern markets where our obnoxids credit system is not known-then should t not be prepared to face a temporary loss (if sch there should be) for the sake of the ultimte benefit PAULTY FINANCE. As allf us are well aware, a large number Chine traders in Singapore practically owe their extence to the support of some wealthy Chinams who, while he finances the business and drai a considerable share of the profits, takes of a limited liability inasmuch as he does 'nd appear as a partner in the firm's books. The system is manifestly an unsound one, an hile the name of the wealthy supporter ed in connection with the business inducestredit, when the business fails, not only dobe assets of the wealthy supporter (who is all intents and purposes a partner) go scothe, but he not infrequently pose as creditom the estate of his late business, and reducese legitimate claims of the genuine It habeen stated that one of the effects of the Billay be to induce such wealthy supporters) withdraw entirely from the businesses swhich they are interested, rather than registers partners and render their entire assets ible. Personally it appears to me that, cycle me risk of this result, the prevention Hunsatisfactory arrangements between with no capital and "supporters" risk, is entirely desirable, and the fact the smerrengements frequently, work quite satisfactily is little justification of their ex-

Co the other hand, such arrangements as the have referred to are presumably merely ented into by Chinese capitalists as a means of piloying surplus capital, and not from any semental desire to help their poorer brethren. adt is perfectly certain that, if such a means ofinploying surplus capital were considered to withdrawn, the thrifty brain of the Chinecestalist would readily evolve some other edly beneficial to the general trade of the Coy might be on more honest business

THE WRECK OF THE DUMBARTUN!

The officers and men of the British steamer

SUFFERINGS OF THE CREW.

Dumbarton has arrived at Nagasaki from Vladivostok after some very trying experiences, According to statements made by members of the crew and reported in the A agusuk! Press, the Dumbarton left San Francisco on September 25th for Nicolaevsk and other Far Eastern posts with a general cargo, Exactly one month from the date of sailing, the vessel ran aground on a sand bank about thirty miles from her destination. The neighbour hood being uninhabited, an open boat with six of the crew and two passengers left the ship to obtain assistance. After being three days and nights at sea, during which they suffered much from exposure, they beached the boat and lit a fire. Unfortunately the tide rising compelled them to abandon this quickly, and they would probably have perished had they not been observed by the keepers of a light. house. The latter took them in and provided them with beds and warm food. Their hands and feet were numbed with the cold, so that they were quite helpless. The Russians, however, treated them with great kindness until they were taken off by a special service vessel. Upon hearing their story, the captain of the Russian ship proceeded in search of the Dumburion. The remainder of the crew were found to be lightening the ship by throwing overboard the cargo. The whole of the crew were then transferred to the Russian vessel, the officers and men of which treated them very harshly, stealing from them their clothes, blankets, and personal effects. They were kept on board for one month and five days, during which period no regular sleeping accommodation was granted them. At the end of this period they were landed at Viadivostok and there sent on board the Norwegian steamer Arnfrid, which brought them to Nagasaki,

The Dumbarton was commanded by Captain Rettie, and the crew consisted of six other officers and 17 men, in addition to which she are now in charge of the British Cansul at Nagasaki, and will betweent home as soon as

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY. This is the age of research and experiment, when all nature, so to speak, in ramacked by the scientific all nature, so to speak, is ramsacked by the scientific for the comfort and happiness of man 7 science has indeed made giant strides during the past century, and among the by no means least important discoveries in medicine comes that of Therapion, particulars of which will be found in another column. This preparation is unquestionably one of the most genuine and reliable l'atent Riedicines ever introduced and has, we understand, been used in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Rostan, Johert, Velpeau, Maisonneuve, the well-known Chassaignac, and fideed by all those who are regard das authorities in such matters, including the celebrated Indicinent, and Roug, by whom it was some time since uniformly adopted, and that it is worthy the attention of those who requires such a temedy we think there is no doubt. From the time of Aristotle downwards, a potent spent in the removal of these diseases has like time, med philosopher's stone) been the object of search of some imperful generous minds; and far beyond the mere truth reliable the baser metals into gold is surely the intention of the philosopher's atone been the object of search of some imperful generous minds; and far beyond the mere truth reliable to the baser metals into gold is surely to discovery of a remedy so potent as to repenish the failur spergies of the comfirmed surely aphedity puthanfely to expel from the system without the possess of any intention of these second party the possess of acquired or laborated disease is all their possess of acquired or laborated disease is all their possess of acquired or inherited disease is all their possess of acquired or laborated disease is all their possess of acquired or laborated disease is all their possess of acquired or laborated disease is all their possess of acquired or laborated disease is all their possess. process of acquired or inherited disease in all their incient forms as to leave notaint or trace behind. SHIPS [Consinued from page 5.]

IDLE PEARS. Personally, however, I think the effect of the Bill on such arrangements as these would not result in the withdrawal of the capital. The supporter would probably continue to finance the firm and instead of running the risk of being proved a partner, as under present circumstances he might be, he would have the satisfaction of drawing his annual profits (called interest perhaps) and knowing that his liability was logally limited. As Mr. Bonser said in 1888, the Bill "will have the desirable eff ct of putting an end to attempts to render persons, who are not partners, liable as quasi-partners." The objection of the Committee that 'Creditors will be deprived by this Bill of the powers they at present postess and successfully use, of suing a man who can be proved a partner, but who might not under the Ordinance be registered," appears hardly reasonable. If by non-registration, supporters of firms plainly indicate that they do not accept the responsibilities of partners, they take the risk by so doing of reducing the credit of their firm, and thus losing money, and they surely correspondingly, deserve the immunity from liability [44] of being sued as partners which such nonregistration gives them.

The memorandum states that "the Committee consider that among "Chinese there would be many unregistered partners." Undoubtedly there would, but they would not be in a position, as they are now, to falsely induce credit for the firms they support by tacitly, though not actually nor probably, admitting themselves to be partners.

One of the strongest arguments brought against the Bill appears to be that it will discount experience as regards the giving of credit, and will put the newest and smallest firms on a level with those that have borne the brunt of an unusually not uneventful past.

I am myself connected with one of the oldest firms here, but interest in certain recent failures has caused no little amusement - perhaps in spite of some personal experience and the assistance of cashiers of greater experience I am bound to admit that there are few native firms with whom we deal, a few further particulars than those I possess regarding the constitution and stability of which would not be of the keenest possible interest to me. And some of the heavy failures of this and last year would appear to show that some others at least of the leading local houses are not appreciably better in-

As regards the new and small firms, it appears to me that they base their business and credit on what they see done by the older and larger from, and what the older and larger firms do i as an open book to any market kranie of mediocre ability. Personally I have never found it so difficult to ascertain what credit any firm gives a dealer, as to ascertain how much I ought to give him myself.

And while we frequently grumble at the extent to which competition is carried locally and sometimes speak with disrespect of the innumerable small businesses which certainly now do exist here, we cannot surely reasonably expect anything else, and few of us would probably care to admit that we were not ready to accept, and even welcome, h nest competitioh unless we acknowledge that we have no interest whatever in the general prosperity of the Colony,

So then, if it is the case that the judgment of the older firms as regards credit, is almost as frequently incorrect as that of the newer; if it is the case (and I think it will be admitted that it is) that the newer firms trade on the experience of the alder: if we welcome the introduction of new capital and do not really object to the honest competition it naturally entails—is it a just cause of complaint against the Bill that in enabling the older firms to arrive at a more correct appreciation of the value of their clientele it enables the newer firms to do likewise? MODIFIED CONDITIONS.

While I have now touched upon one or two of the general objections to the Bill, there remains the question as to how the Bill, if it be in main principles a desirable one, can be best

Certain Chinese dealers with whom I have been in conversation in the matter, state that they would not have the slightest objection to registering themselves, but they would object to the public being supplied with minute details of the composition of their business, If registration be ipso facto a proof of partnership, then the mere fact that any one is registered as a partner in a business renders his entire assets liable, so that it might not perhaps be necessary, at least in the initial stages of the working of the proposed new law. for the partners to be compelled to furnish. particulars as to their exact interest. And the accessibility of such details to the public might produce much merely inquisitive examination of the register which would be annoying to those registered. It might perhaps be arranged that the register should not be a public document in the port moderate to strong NE. wind, fullest sense of the word, but should only be accessible to such persons as satisfied the registrar of their bona fides.

But it is not necessary here to go into details of these or more important modifications which may be necessary. That may be left to the subsequent consideration of this Chamber. The Government have shown themselves patient and considerate in the whole matter, and will doubtless continue to do so if their efforts to improve the quality of our trade are met in a spirit which will show them that we work not so much in our individual interests as in those of the general trade of the Colony. That there is room for improvement in the methods of carrying on that trade there can surely be little doubt, but, at the same time, if by passing such a resolution as that which this meeting was convened to consider, we once more rebuff the Government, we can hardly feel that any further consideration is due to us from them. Gentlemen, I beg to propose the following resolution to the meeting :- That in the opinion of this Chamber, some form of legislation for the registration of partnerships is desirable, but that the Bill now before the Legislative Council requires modification, They therefore request Government to postpone the further reading of the Bill, in order to give this Chamber time to draft and submit their proposals regarding the modifications necessary.
